

CATHOLIC RECORD SOCIETY

62nd Annual Conference: 8-10 July 2019

The Bar Convent, York

MAIN SPEAKERS

Dr Katie McKeogh (University of Oxford)

Whose England, whose history? Catholicism and antiquarianism, 1560-1660

Professor Bill Sheils (University of York)

Monastic Sites and Catholic Houses, c.1540-c1700: Coxwold, North Yorkshire

Dr Adam Morton (University of Newcastle)

The Many-headed Monster: "Popery" in British History

Dom Alban Hood (Douai Abbey)

Bishop Cuthbert Hedley OSB (1837-1915): Confronting the modern world

Dr Paul Shaw (Archivist of the Poor Servants of the Mother of God)

"Piety and Brains": Mother Magdalen Taylor (1832-1900)

Dr Eilish Gregory (University College, London)

Sequestration in Early Modern Britain: Politics, Memory and Loyalty, 1642-1727

CALL FOR PAPERS

The CRS is delighted to put out a Call for Papers for anyone wishing to contribute 20-minute papers to the Panel Sessions at its Conference this year. This is always an exciting opportunity to present research in the presence of experts and in a friendly environment – some of the present leaders in our field first presented their work at a CRS conference! Anyone wishing to present should send a 100-word abstract and brief academic biography to Professor Bill Sheils: bill.sheils@york.ac.uk. A limited number of bursaries to cover the Conference Fee and up to £100 travel/accommodation expenses are available for students, and clergy and religious are particularly invited to apply.

www.catholicrecordsociety.co.uk/conference